Event Summary

MRO Middle East and Aircraft Interiors Middle East (AIME) took place on February 24-26, 2020 in Dubai, UAE. The three-day event, which begins with a senior level summit at the Conrad Dubai and followed by a two-day international exhibition at the Dubai World Trade Center, is the largest of its kind in the region, gathering the entire airline supply chain.

“I have been visiting AIME and MRO since the beginning of this show to meet all the OEMs and MROs in the same place, to meet them and get the business going forward. Our expectations were met as we have met the key OEMs and MRO's we wanted to today and started discussing future contracts. AIME and MRO Middle East is important to our company as you meet everybody under the one umbrella.”

Alex John, Head of Materials, Flydubai

Exhibition Highlights

The two-day exhibition welcomed the entire aviation aftermarket, with decision makers from across the airline supply chain looking to forge secure new suppliers and forge new relationships in the highly lucrative Middle East aftermarket.

The co-located shows of MRO Middle East and Aircraft Interiors Middle East (AIME) provide attendees with a unique opportunity to meet exhibitors specialising in MRO products and services (maintenance, repair & overhaul) as well as cutting-edge technologies in aircraft interiors from around the world, all under one roof.

“Excellent organization and very useful for networking.”

Summit Highlights

The MRO Middle East Summit took place on Monday 24 February 2020, the day before the exhibition opens, at the Conrad Dubai. The one-day summit welcomed 150 senior level attendees to discuss the current aftermarket climate and the challenges that lie ahead for the Middle East region.

Led by industry experts, topics of discussion included:

- 2020 MRO Forecast and Key Trends: Identifying New Opportunities
- Strategies to Generate Business, Reduce Costs and improve efficiency thanks to NDT
- An Ever-Changing Aftermarket Landscape
- Predictive Maintenance & Engine Health Monitoring
- Engineering: A Case Study About a Successful Partnership in the Region
- CO2 Emission Reduction 2050 – How can the MRO industry contribute to IATA commitment to reduce emissions?
- Tech Talks (Panel): Success Stories and Pitfalls of Innovation

Expert Roundtables

New for the 2020 programme, the final session was dedicated to intimate roundtable discussions, each led by an expert in that field. Delegates were able to choose from 7 topic areas depending on their area of business and interest. Roundtable topics included:

- Moving to performance-based regulations in the Middle East
- The Operators Point of View
- The OEM's Strategy
- The Airframe Leasing Industry

“MRO Middle East Summit is the premier conference event for the region. The 2020 event proved once again to be an invaluable source of industry insights and networking opportunities.”

Lewis Wallace

Regional Marketing Director,
Boeing Commercial Airplanes

“Great selection of topics and speakers at the Summit. The attendance of high-class participants amongst all stakeholders in combination with the great hospitality shown by the organizer made this event a highlight.”

Nicole Noack

Managing Director,
Independent Aircraft Modifier Alliance

IFEC Seminars

Returning again to AIME 2020 in Dubai, the IFEC Seminars provided the platform for world class regional and international industry players to examine the new trends, disruptive technologies and real-life case studies within the inflight connectivity world. With engaging content delivered through keynote presentations and panel discussions, along with unique networking opportunities, the IFEC Seminars are still the meeting place for the Middle East's key decision makers.

Just some of the topics that the Seminars showcased included the likes of South African Airways sharing their experience of overcoming numerous barriers to improve their inflight experience, as well as Inmarsat shedding light on the passenger of the future, their demands and how the industry is adapting to meet them. One of the most thought-provoking discussions from the two days included Oman Air, SITAONAIR, Inmarsat and KID Systeme debating the role that IFEC will play in the future innovation of passenger experience.

The IFEC Seminars will be featuring again at the IFEC Pavilion in 2021 with more content and engaging panel sessions.

“It is very good to have suppliers in one place at the one time so you can schedule quite a lot of meetings in a very short time. We had a lot of meetings with our existing suppliers, past suppliers and some we wish to work with in the future so it has been very fruitful.”

Fred Mupende

Senior Manager
Corporate and Strategic Planning
Rwandair Limited

Airline Buyers Programme

AIME once again provided the ideal platform for Airline Buyers to explore the latest technologies and meet a huge range of aircraft interiors suppliers.

The carefully designed Airline Buyers Programme ensured members maximised their experience while at the Exhibition. Airline Buyers were able to discover new trends and innovations happening in IFE & Connectivity from the IFEC Seminars, source new products ideas from the 300+ providers for both the Aircraft Interiors and MRO markets and access the Airline Club Lounge to further network between meetings.
